EXPANSION

The bell rings. As students pour out of their classrooms in order to go to the next class, they have to elbow their way through the crowded halls. Woe to the student who drops his books in the midst of this mass movement. As the time draws near for the second bell to ring, almost every classroom in the school begins to fill up rapidly. By the time the bell does ring, few desks are left empty. Most rooms are filled to capacity. Such overcrowding at HPHS was becoming a common sight, with prospects of 2500 students colliding with each other by 1970. Dr. Karl Plath, pursuing one of his first duties as new superintendent of District 113, worked to present the need for additional classroom space at Highland Park and Deerfield High Schools. The October 23 referendum passed, and plans were completed for construction to begin in the spring. The HPHS addition, which will furnish a new library and materials center, more science classrooms, and more team teaching rooms, is scheduled to be finished by September, 1967.

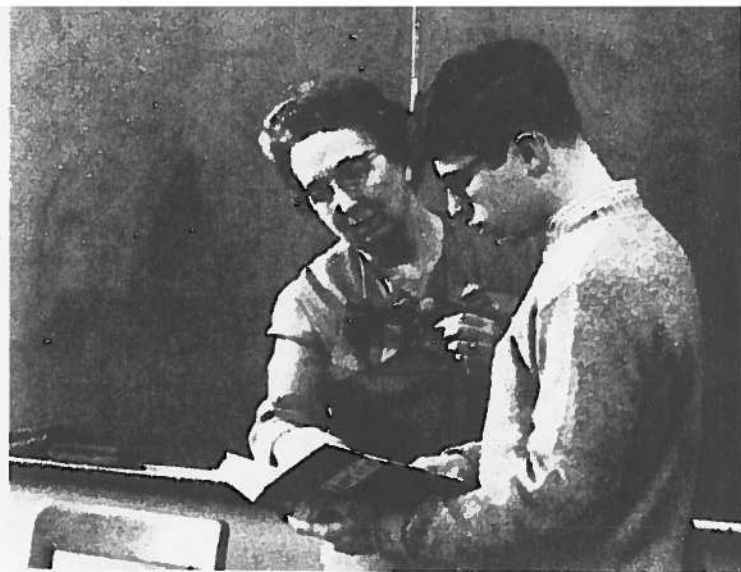

THIS IS HOW HIGHLAND PARK HIGH SCHOOL will appear after construction, approved by the referendum, is completed. Work is scheduled to begin in the fall of 1967.

EXPERIMENTATION

It only takes a casual walk through the classrooms of HPHS to examine another familiar sight of this school year. We call it experimentation. In chemistry this is a tried and true learning device. What will be the solubility of Na_2SO_4 ? It takes a test tube and a certain amount of time to find the answer. Likewise, the girls in home economics know that it is impossible to bake a good loaf of bread without some often disastrous experimentation at first. Even in English, such trials and failures can perfectly be reached. In that matter, can the boys in industrial arts make carburetors after reading a book on the subject? And every department has used some sort of experimentation this year. The teachers in specific English courses have borrowed the test tubes and beakers from the chemistry labs to prove that details can be written on any subject. As a result of this avid interest in discovery through experience, most students have learned the excitement of experimenting with their minds.

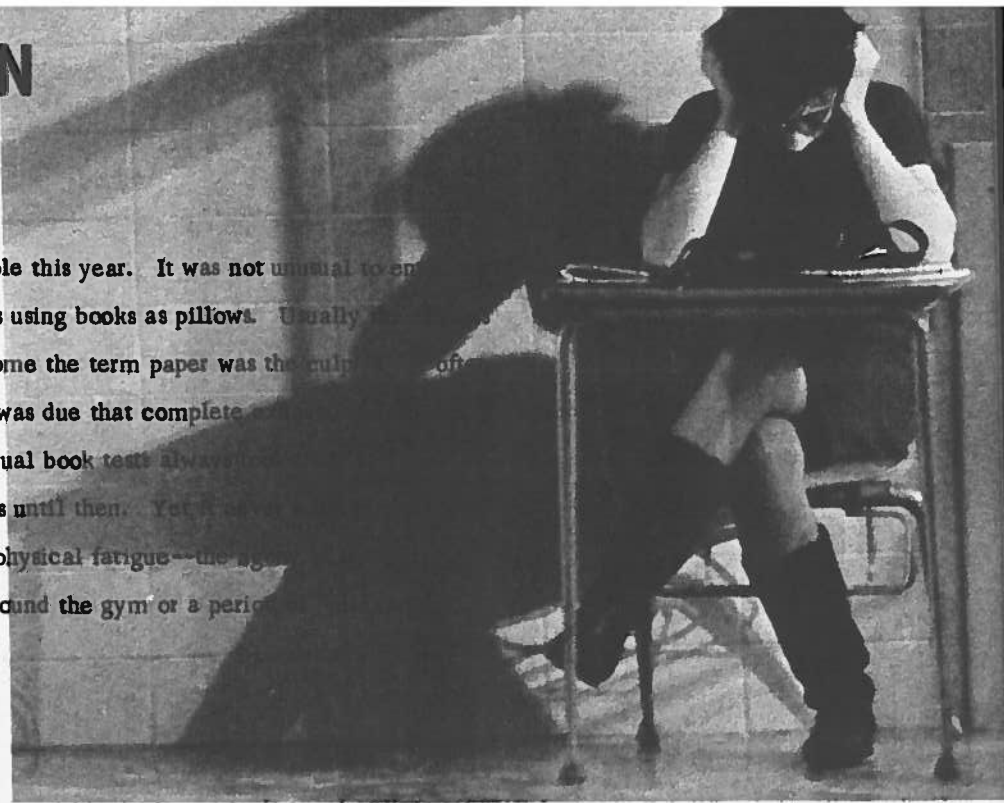

EXCITEMENT

Excitement! Eyes are glowing. The throat is parched. The heart seems to be beating one thousand times a minute. The Highland Park Giants are on the one yard line with only one down to go. The shouts of the crowd become an uproar. Feet begin to stamp in the bleachers. Noise makers are wildly shaken. Then there is silence. The play begins. A touchdown! The crowd goes wild. The Giants win! Yet whether winning or losing, such enthusiasm was an integral part of this school year. It could be seen not only in athletic events but in dozens of other activities. For some students it was in the form of opening night jitters before the premiere of "Hollywood on Vine." Others discovered excitement in making preparations for Junior Prom, whether buying crepe paper or fixing hundreds of finger sandwiches. On the whole, this was a year when the cheers, applause and excitement were always in the foreground.

EXHAUSTION

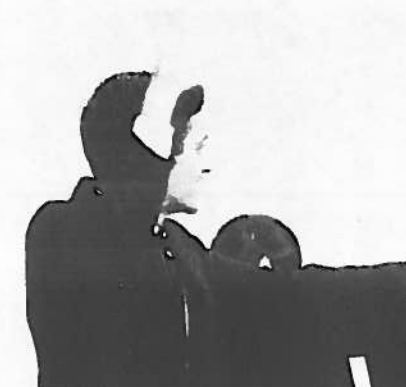

Study halls had their share of exhausted people this year. It was not unusual to enter a study hall and see at least two or three heads using books as pillows. Usually the culprits for such exhaustion were predictable. For some the term paper was the culprit. After it demanded so much time the night before it was due that complete exhaustion was the result. Then, of course the nights before the bi-annual book tests always found some of those who had not bothered to read the books until then. Yet it was not only mental exhaustion that on top of this mental exhaustion came physical fatigue--the agony of trying to keep awake in a lecture after twenty laps around the gym or a period of twenty laps around the gym.

The 1966 LITTLE GIANT explores the sights and sounds of HPHS.

September—and the mad, scrambling rush for books and schedules.

Orientation Assembly

Clubs had a chance to advertise for new freshman blood.

Garrick presented . . .

Blue-White Weekend

... and the Pep Rally, complete with our own HPHS Super Giant and the senior boys' "clickety-click" cheer.

Our spirited efforts for VICTORY.

At the Magazine Drive Assembly, the Addams family encouraged girls to sell magazine subscriptions for Girls' Club scholarships.

Memoirs, this year's Mother-Daughter Banquet, was followed by the annual benefit show. The show presented a series of humorous skits based on history—from the cave man through Julius Caesar to Pocahontas and Betsy Ross.

The senior boys finally triumphed over the faculty at the annual student-faculty basketball game, with a score of 43-41.

Winter Assembly

The Human Relations Forum, a newly-formed club, allowed students to discuss controversial topics with informed speakers.

Speech Contest

The district speech contest winners were BACK ROW: Jim Oliff, 1st; David Brent, 1st; Chuck Dawe, 1st; Graham Spanier, 5th; Mark Lavin, 1st; Bob Kramsky, 3rd. FRONT ROW: Leah Zell, 2nd; Wendy Nora, 2nd; Cathy Steele, 2nd; Debby Pennish, 2nd. In the sectionals, Jim Oliff and Chuck Dawe received firsts, David Brent a third, Mark Lavin and Leah Zell fourths, and Debby Pennish a fifth place. The contestants brought home a first place for the school at both contests.

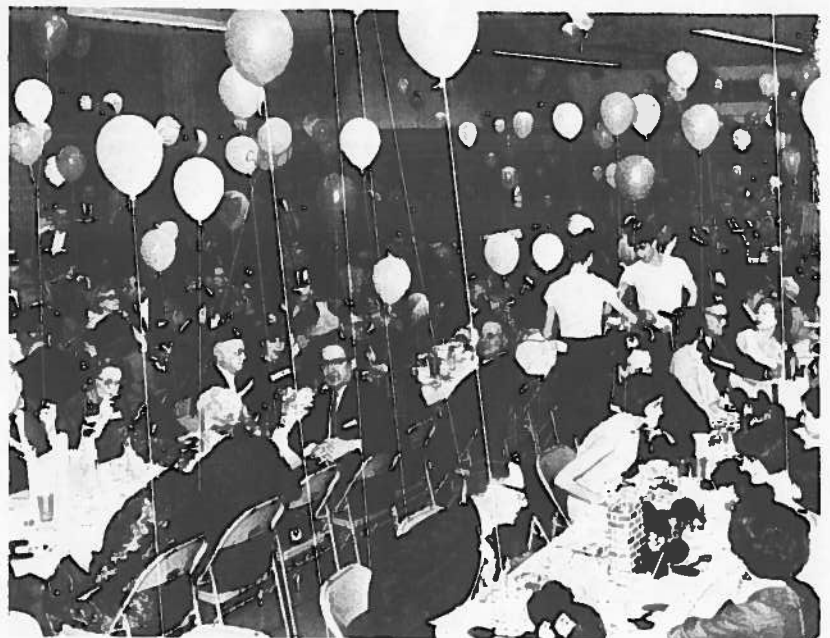

Super-Gala-Daddy-

Daughter-Banquet

Disneyland was the setting for this year's father-daughter banquet on February 24, with the decorations turning the cafeteria into a wonderland of fun and childhood memories. As usual, the dads were more than willing to get into the act. Each class put on its song, with the traditional folk singing between groups. The seniors won the song contest, and for everyone it was truly a banquet-with-the-mostest fun.

Latin Banquet

The Latin banquet, one of the most exclusive social events of the year, was open only to Latin students who came in authentic classical dress. The banquet, Veni, Vidi, Edi, transported the students to Rome before the fall through skits, decorations, and costumes.

Charis Concert

The Dance Club, sporting the new name of Charis, presented its dance concert on March 25. The show was an application of the basics of dance. The original dances included improvisations performed with electronic music, a jazz number, and a classical ballet.

AR

A.F.S Week-end

On a Thursday afternoon in mid-March twenty nine A.F.S. exchange students arrived at HPHS. They prepared to participate in what was undoubtedly the most hectic but enjoyable weekend during their stay in the United States. Beginning with the P.T.A. panel discussion, the students, along with their hosts and hostesses, attended Friday's classes, parties, a dinner, the spring play, and finally a farewell brunch.

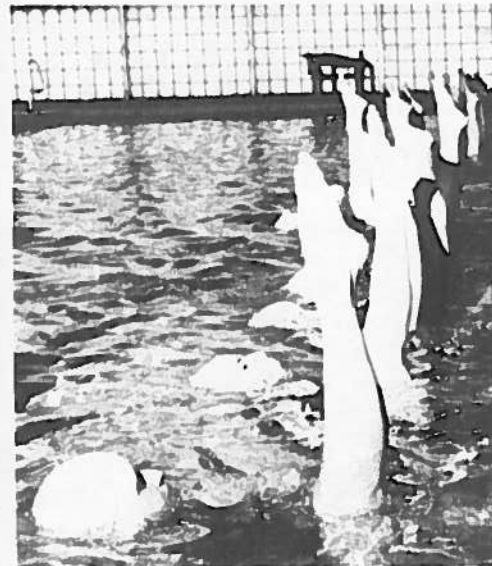

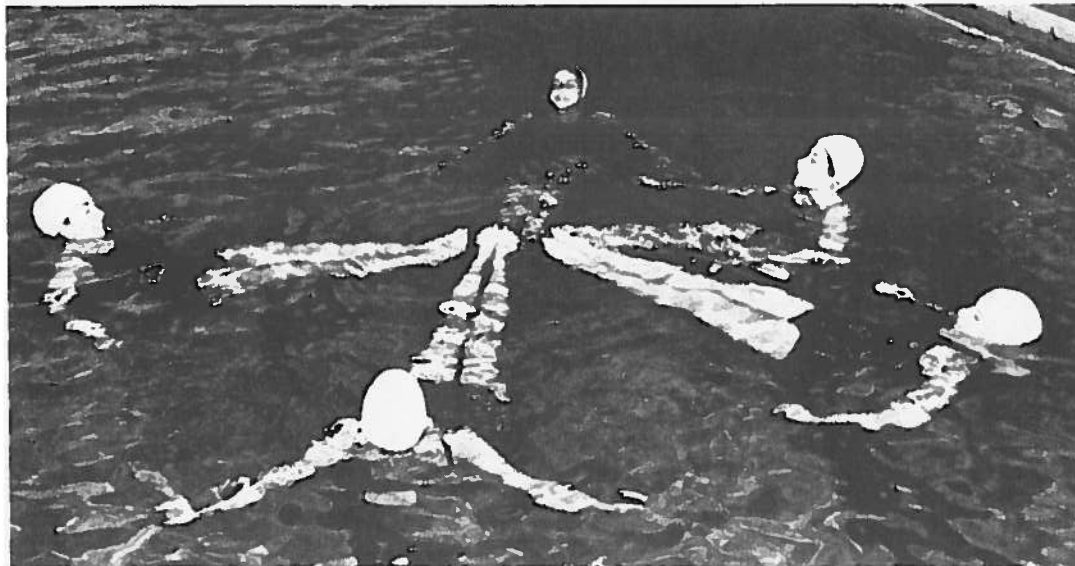

Penguins practiced ballet legs and front crawl in one of their frequent land drills.

Reflections of Alice

The annual Penguin show, presented on May 6 and 7, was the culmination of a full year's hard work. From hundreds of girls, a small number was chosen to participate. The club heads, Ellen Bernstein (senior club) and Mary Engelman (junior club), worked with the penguins to develop their skills. Miss Steinbach and Miss Disbrow, club sponsors, helped greatly when it came time to select the music and write the ballets. This year's show "Reflections of Alice" was a re-telling of Alice's adventures in Wonderland. The polished production was a synthesis of technique and imagination, bringing the audience a refreshing interpretation of a classic story, combining the arts of music and movement with special swimming skills.

The Senior Executive Board filled their Monday morning meetings with orderly discussions about scholarships, senior work day, student stunts, Literary Review, and, of course, graduation. Stunts, put on by members of all four classes, was a senior class project, with the profits helping to support Little Giant. With the advice and suggestions of Miss Bond and Mr. Broming, the meetings were both stimulating and productive.

Previewed by a 25-minute color movie, and "Time's Running Out" signs under the clocks, Prom 1965 surpassed all expectations of excited juniors. A nine-foot Peter Pan, white wrought-iron furniture, and a fountain in the North Cafeteria set the scene for "Second Star to the Right." Committee heads—Laurie Fischer and Diane Kellner, publicity; Nancy Jahn and Susie Wertheimer, decorations; Lloyd Kasper and Nancy Rabin, tickets; Candy Brent and Mark Steele, bids and invitations; and Laura Mizel and Sue Ward, refreshments—labored to create a fantasy out of such realities as cold brick walls and Coca Cola. Girls in long formals and boys in tuxedos with jackets ranging in color from yellow to madras danced starry-eyed "straight on 'til morning."

Work Day

This year, Senior Work Day, now an H.P.H.S. tradition, was held on October 15. Led by their executive board, the seniors earned money for scholarships. In addition to the common tasks of raking leaves and washing cars, seniors put up storm windows, painted rooms, and cleaned basements.

Stunts '65

The senior class of 1966 changed the auditorium on St. Johns and Vine to the famous corner of Hollywood on Vine during the evenings of November 5 and 6. Hard work by the Stunts Board—David Brent, production coordinator; Bill Caplin, musical director; Jeff Gusfield, director; Mary Ellen Troy and Judy Klein, choreographers; Marilyn Foreman, business director; Debbie Rubin, art director; and Rich Goldstein, technical director—made the famous movie scenes come to life. Keystone cops ran across the stage between scenes involving ghosts, pie fights, and pink panthers. The lyrics of three original songs were sung by a multitude of stars. After the final curtain dropped in front of a well-acclaimed senior girls' Chorus Line, the glamour of Hollywood continued into the night at the cast party.

Stunts band director Bill Caplin conducts.

Behind the scenes, Debbie Rubin, art director, creates scenery.

The spirited 1965 Little Giant football team finished the year with a 4 and 3 record. The high point of the season undoubtedly was the suspenseful victory over New Trier in our second league game. Highland Park moved ahead by five points and then halted several drives by New Trier, finally ending the game on our five yard line! An important win against powerful Waukegan kept the Little Giants in the title race. However, the season ended on a dismal note as the varsity dropped two of its last three games. Three members of the 1965 varsity team, Tod Steele (tackle), Mark Victor (half-back), and Steve Schechter (end), were selected to the All-League team. Tod Steele also made the All-State team.

The 1965-1966 season was a very exciting, but overall disappointing one for the Little Giants. In the beginning of the season, Fred Dickman's cagers gave promise that they might be a league contender. The Giants opened the season with successive wins over Glenbrook South, a team that later went on to win their conference, Glenbrook North, and North Chicago, a team which won both its league title, and a regional title. After a disappointing 30 pt loss to New Trier, the Giants bounced back to upset Warren, another conference title winner. However, after a win over Oak Park in the second league outing, the Giants hit a streak of bad games, losing eight straight. The Parkers finally broke their losing streak with a 74-72 overtime win at Oak Park. Highland Park trailed 20-7 at the end of the first quarter, but fought back to tie and go ahead in the second half. Oak Park tied it up at the end of the third quarter, and at the end of the fourth quarter the game was again deadlocked at 68-68. The game was decided with two seconds left in the overtime period as Jerrold Carl hit a fifteen foot shot. Carl finished with 31 pts.

Highland Park later avenged two earlier losses to Niles East with a 67-66 win on the Niles court. In the first game of the regionals, the Giants, led by 30 pts from Carl, beat Libertyville 81-69 and advanced to meet Waukegan in the semi-finals. The Giants, using a beautiful and effective stall, trailed at half by only two points, 13-11. However, the stall broke down in the third quarter and Waukegan went on to win by the score of 47-32.

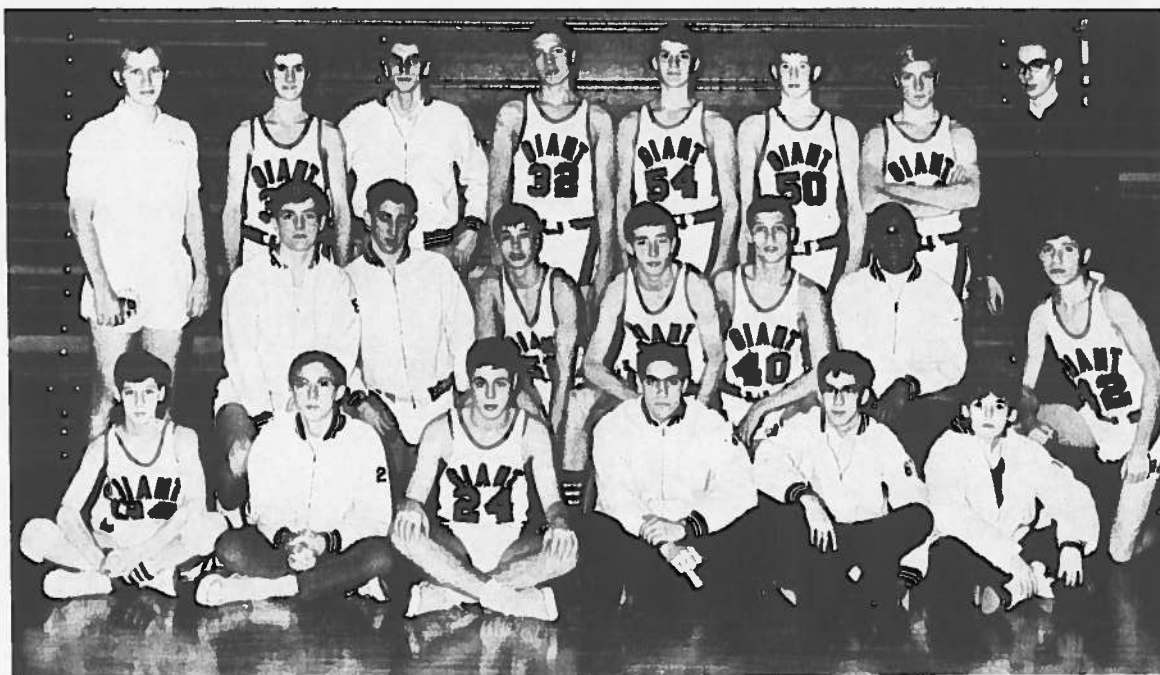

In individual performances, Jerrold Carl, a 6-3 inch forward, and Brad Lind, sophomore center, continually led the attack. Carl averaged 15.3 pts while Lind averaged 17.3 pts. Fine backcourt work was done by Joe Koransky, Tom Gmeiner, and Dick Wolk, while Steve Steinberg and Dennis Hurst turned in creditable performances at forward.

Swimming

After finishing third in the Suburban League meet the Varsity swimmers of Highland Park took thirteenth in the State Championship meet. In addition, they successfully defended their title in the Soph-Junior Invitational meet. "This was a surprisingly good season," stated Coach Davis. "Coming in third behind New Trier and Evanston is no disgrace." The Varsity broke many records en route to their 10-2 season. Van Corwith and the 400 yard free style relay team placed in the State meet.

The 1966 Little Giant indoor track squad had a very successful season, finishing a strong fifth in the suburban league, $4\frac{1}{2}$ points out of second. Varsity field events were particularly strong with Pete Glick, Dick Wolk, Mark Lichtenberg, and Louis Gorchoff regularly placing for the Parkers. Middle distance runners were also abundant on the '66 squad. Jack Castle, Charley Cochran, Ralph Gibson, Lee Barnett, Bill Mack, and Dick Weinberg turned in some fine individual and relay performances during the year. With many returning lettermen and help from this year's frosh-soph team, Mel Edwards has bright hopes for the future.

Highland Park High School's Student Council was established in 1910, making it the first in Illinois. Every year some new legislation is passed, but Student Council is primarily a service organization. Under the guidance of the sixteen-member Executive Board, Council supervises the lunchroom, the parking lot, the marshal system, all-school elections, and it sponsors a turnabout and various projects in the community. Large meetings for session representatives are held every other Wednesday, while the Executive Board meets every day during eighth period.

A.F.S.

Babs Schreuer

Tom Forsberg

The Foreign Exchange Committee was able to add an exciting foreign flavor to H.P.H.S. by bringing Babs Schreuer of Vienna, Austria, and Tom Forsberg of Karlstad, Sweden, to our community. Babs, energetic, but softly feminine-looking, who loves to dance and ski, and Tom, a serious art student who likes classical music and Beatle haircuts, imparted warmth and Continental charm to our school.

The American Field Service Committee is composed of the presidents of all the clubs and classes, and any other interested students. The six board members pictured are Laurie Pathman, treasurer; Wayne Michaels, chairman; Diane Kellner, president; Sue Newberger, secretary. Absent, Paul Geimer, Student Council and A.F.S. co-ordinator. The purpose of the A.F.S. committee is to sponsor one of the two foreign exchange students, through the sales of Snack Bar. The committee also sponsors the A.F.S. weekend in March, when foreign exchange students from schools in the Chicago area stay in Highland Park for two days.

The projects of Girls' Club are open to all girls attending H.P.H.S. In the beginning of the year, Girls' Club sponsored "General Confusion," the Big-Little Sister Tea. In order to raise money for scholarships, the club sponsored the Mother-Daughter Banquet and Benefit Show, entitled "Momoirs," and the magazine drive. The final project of the year was the Soph-Senior Send-off Tea.

The school newspaper, Shoreline, is put out almost every week by the advanced journalism class. This year, led by faculty adviser John Munski and editor Brian Ross, the staff was often able to publish six and even eight page issues, thereby giving the student body a real bonus. The news, editorial, and sports sections presented a variety of interesting articles and the feature section was especially lively with stories about Litburg's Bagel Bakery, Old Town, and interviews with both national and international celebrities. Such superior coverage captured an All-American rating for this year's Shoreline.

The school yearbook is the result of student work and lots of it. It all began with the theme choice in the late spring. By last fall the real work began. The senior editors planned pages, set up picture schedules, wrote copy, and cropped photos. Meanwhile, the junior staff ran errands, typed copy, and trained for 1967 staff positions. M6 was a madhouse before and after school as the Little Giant fought with Shoreliners for typewriters and desk space. Although every deadline date loomed large and threateningly, the staff managed to complete their work and, as usual, to put out the best Little Giant ever!

H.G.A.

Although H.G.A. does not prepare its members for Olympic competition, it promotes athletic achievement and good sportsmanship. Throughout this past year, membership could be gained through participation in field hockey, volleyball, basketball, Dance Club, and Penguin. All new members were required to earn a total of twenty points. In order to stay in the club, old members needed only fifteen. A new membership drive was launched and each session elected a representative to attend the H.G.A. meetings. Among its many events H.G.A. sponsored inter-school play-days, the Penguin Show, the Dance Concert, and the Father-Daughter Banquet.

CHESS CLUB

Throughout the year, the growing membership of Chess Club engaged in medieval warfare. Each week, members became better fighters, learning the traps, pitfalls, and action-packed moves. After forming ranks, the Chess Club jousted to a fine interscholastic tournament record, conquering high schools in and out of the Suburban League. Officers pictured are Richard Baim, pres.; Jon Perbohner, sec.; Teresa Crawford, tournament director. Absent: Charles Padorr, v.p.

FOLK CLUB

The members of Folk Club aim to broaden their knowledge of folk music and to entertain themselves. The plans of this newly-formed group included hootenannies with outside folk groups and members' workshops. Officers pictured are Jim Simon, Randi Kaplan, and David Nemer.

CREATIVE ARTS CLUB

Creative Arts Club acts to stimulate cultural interest of the student body. In sponsoring art shows and providing art materials for students, the club accomplishes this goal. Their workshops include instruction in the uses of oil paints, clay, and silver. Officers pictured are Jennifer Fell, pres.; Linda Steck, v.p.; Judy Klein, treas.; Ellen Bass, publ. chmn.; Diana Lederman, sec.

BRIDGE CLUB

Bridge Club members competed with players from nearby high schools throughout the year. For the more proficient players, a tournament was held at the end of the year. This was followed by a faculty-student showdown. At the weekly meetings, newcomers to the club were drilled in rules and strategy. Officers pictured are Bruce Robbins, v.p.; Richard Baim, standing; Jim Nachman, pres.; Miss Oleson, sponsor. Not pictured: Sue Gidwitz, sec.-treas.; Jim Oliff, tournament director.

F.T.A.

Future Teachers engaged in various activities which promoted interest in teaching. The club heard speakers from regular and specialized schools. Early in the year, members attended a special program at Roosevelt College and then participated in an inter-school F.T.A. meeting.

GARRICK CLUB

Garrick recently adopted a new format. Now a member of the National Thespian Society, the club operated on a point system. The emphasis was placed on behind-the-scenes activities as well as on actual stage performance. The majority of roles was given only to those who earned enough points to become members of the Thespians.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Various techniques of photography were exchanged and discussed by the members of Photography Club. Through practical experience, the members were able to explore new and more effective means of taking pictures.

STAGE CREW

Stage Crew is a voluntary group of students whose job is to stage school productions, such as Stunts, the spring play, concerts, assemblies, and Garrick productions.

LITERARY CLUB

Now in its third year, Literary Club has added the publication of the Literary Review to its regular activities. Guest speakers, writing clinics, and discussions on everything from Bahai to Dylan Thomas taught the members to express themselves and understand others.

Barb Sachs, vice president; Ellen Bass, pres.; David Hazelkorn, secretary.

DEBATE CLUB

Debate Club attempted to teach its members to be critical thinkers. Members learned to argue both for and against a resolution. Each week members entered meets sponsored by area schools. The main topic for debate was Resolved: That the federal government should enact a program of compulsory arbitration of labor management disputes in the basic industries.

Leslie Lerman, sec.; James Oliff, pres.; Mike Weis, v.p.

LIBRARY CLUB

Those threatening overdue slips from the library were not the work of the faculty but of Library Club members. These students worked behind the scenes to keep the library running smoothly. Besides sending overdue slips, they were responsible for locating and checking out books and for keeping the stacks in order.

FRONT ROW: Karen Nussbaum, Bonnie Hurley, Sue Levy, Lisa Crane, Janet Van Arsdale, JoAnn Shimizu, Sharon O'Melia, Laura Abrams, Robin Shoemaker, Debbie Dorsey.

SCIENCE CLUB

This year, Science Club was made up of all the Marie Curies and Albert Einsteins of the future. The club attempted to interest its members in several phases of science while actually dwelling on a few limited areas. The officers pictured are Lynn Goldberg, v.p.; and Randy Elias, pres.

MATH CLUB

Math Club's purpose is to enable members to supplement their classroom knowledge of mathematics. Lectures on advanced subjects such as linear transformation on a vector space, the Gauss Algorithm, and the Epsilon Delta definition of limits served to increase members' knowledge. Pictured are Don Mintz, pres.; and Mark Lavin, sec-treas.

RIFLE CLUBS

Boys' and Girls' Rifle Clubs are for any students interested in becoming proficient marksmen. After learning the safety rules and techniques, the clubs joined in the annual school tournament. The members were awarded medals and certificates from the National Rifle Association, with which both clubs are affiliated. Pictured above are Greg Steiskal, Ernest Garner, Mr. Eiseman, sponsor, and Leonard Berger. Girls' rifle club officers pictured below are Carol Inglis, pres.; Carol Blank, v.p.; Miss Tank, sponsor; Mary Cantagello, sec.; Barbara Marks, treas.

TRIAD MUSIC CLUB

This year, Triad emphasized creativity along with the usual development of performing and listening techniques. A campaign was successfully launched to promote creativity in composition. For the first time, Triad sponsored an all-school assembly, Camelot, which gave many students, both members and non-members of Triad, an opportunity to perform. Triad officers are Mark Tauman, sec.; Bill Stone, sec.; Bill Caplin, co-pres.; Carol Nissenson, v. p.; Joel Masser, co-pres. SEATED: Kathy Nathan, v. p.

In recent years the science department has been revising its program, consistent with the nationally developed science programs, to reflect the new emphasis on science in the liberal arts education. For the non-science major, the department recommends at least two years of study from the wide variety of courses. There is also a very strong program in both natural and physical science for the science major. Plans are in progress to co-ordinate the programs of the high schools and grammar schools.

Math

This year the math department has a new chairman, Mr. Brotzman. This department, too, is developing a broad curriculum. New courses, such as probability and statistics, are being offered; some students this year took part in a computer programming course at I.I.T. The great success that math students are achieving is evidenced by the excellent results of the annual math contest. The math program has been making the necessary transition from traditional teaching methods to the new math.

Social Studies

The social studies department, although commonly thought of in terms of history courses, actually presents a broader curriculum. Sociology, Economics, and American Government courses are offered. A selected group of students take part in the recently innovated Afro-Asian Seminar. The department helps prepare students for college by offering Advanced Placement courses in American and Modern European history.

Language

The growth of the language department in recent years indicates increased interest in bi- and tri-lingualism. Through using facilities such as the language laboratory, the department is putting more emphasis on the communicative skills. In addition, language courses give an understanding of foreign culture and an awareness of words. The department has also provided more field trips for students.

Organization, the analytical method = 3-3-3, the key symbol of the English department. Although this department is always concerned with helping students understand and appreciate literature, learn the difference between a noun and a verb, and be aware of semantic problems, probably the greatest emphasis this year was on organization and concreteness in writing. The freshman English program devoted most of the first semester to teaching students to sharpen the sensory impressions. The other courses concentrated on the analytical organization of the paragraph and the longer theme.

HOME ECONOMICS

The girls in the home economics department, by studying sewing, cooking, nutrition, child care, and home nursing, learn both the theory and the practical side of homemaking. They have the opportunity to display their talents when they invite the teachers up to tea and when they give their style show in the spring. The department also runs an excellent nursery school.

Mrs. Norma Hammerberg
Department Chairman

Mrs. Jean Young

Mrs. Marge Lothian

Industrial Arts

The industrial arts department has a wider scope than most realize. Some of the students worked for Stunts, constructing and painting scenery. Amazingly, a number of girls are enrolled in industrial arts classes. The contribution of these courses is that the students have the opportunity to put theory into practice.

Mr. Harold Carpenter
Department Chairman

Mr. Lloyd Devereaux

Mr. Paul McLaughlin

Physical

The basic goal of the department is to develop the body so that it continues to be useful throughout the individual's life. Physical education provides needed balance for the academic career and contributes to physical, mental, and social well-being. This department has been fortunate in that the administration has taken interest in providing some of the best facilities on the North Shore.

Education

The entire girls' physical education curriculum has been revamped this year. Now each sport activity is offered five days a week, for three or six weeks periods. Health has become an 18-week, daily course. The purpose of the new program is to give greater continuity to the activities. By meeting everyday, the girls retain more knowledge and advance their skills more quickly. The Leaders' program is more active than ever, with leaders helping out in as many classes as possible. The most obvious change is the new ivy-league type uniforms in light blue.

Music

The music department was truly invigorated this year. The new uniforms gave the band an enthusiasm not felt in many years. The orchestra, too, has a greatly improved sound. In the choral department more emphasis was placed on contemporary music; hence the programs were more sophisticated and varied than ever before. The students were given many opportunities to perform, both for the student body and for community service organizations.

Mr. Harold Finch
Department Chairman

Mr. Martin Haberland

Mrs. Ruth Esserman

Art

The art department this year strove not only to teach the fundamentals of design and color, but also to add a philosophy and psychology to the art of its students. The faculty emphasized individuality, creative enjoyment, and expression.

Business Education

Mr. Kenneth Jorstad
Department Chairman

The business education department does an important job in preparing students for jobs after high school and for further business ed. schooling. Besides typing and stenography, there are courses in accounting and management. The saying within the department is "Business education is education for life." Indeed, these courses do prepare students with practical skills and knowledge.

Armed with cameras, tape recorders and paper and pencil, this year's Little Giant staff explored every aspect of HPHS. Various staff members tramped to rehearsals, searched study halls for seniors who had forgotten their picture appointments, and penetrated the depths of the girls' gym to take pictures for the girls' sports section. The entire staff deserves a trophy for the wonderful job it did. However, I would especially like to thank some of our individual "explorers." Laura, Debby and Jim were invaluable. They could always be depended on to come through in the face of great pressure: our three deadlines. Nancy's artistic exploration of our school was inspired. On her "arty" cover and division pages she captured the key words which represent the sights and sounds of this school year. Always equipped with cameras, Rich, Bob and Jon can be given credit for almost every picture in the book. They especially deserve recognition for the excellent candid classroom shots of every teacher in the school. However, if it hadn't been for the patient scheduling and rescheduling of these candids by Linda and Karen, the faculty and administration section would never have turned out so well. Although our photographers are responsible for most of the pictures in the book, those not taken by them can be attributed to Walingers Studios. The unprecedented job of putting every important sound of this school year on a twelve minute record belonged to Judy and Art. The editing they had to do before Eva-Tone could cut the record was amazing. I want to thank Don and Betty who kept our expedition financially sound, and also Mr. Robert Hyson from our publisher, the Taylor Publishing Company, for his professional help. But most of all, my deepest gratitude goes to Miss Palmer and Dr. Munski for their encouragement, help and patience.

I hope you have enjoyed the 1966 Little Giant after looking through it this first time. If you have, I will consider it a success. Yet, I will be even more pleased if ten years from now, as you page through the 1966 Little Giant, it will recapture for you the sights and sounds of HPHS.

Linda Schier
